A progressive country needs a progressive Industrial sector. The Council of State Industrial Development and Investment Corporation or India (COSIDICI) has been spearheading the industrial growth of India by coordinating the financial, infrastructure and professional development.

The strength of a successful association lies in the efficient and up-to-date communication link. I am pleased to know that the Trimonthly Journal "COSIDICI COURIER" is serving that purpose. I wish that in future the Journal will service as a platform to improve the efficiency across the various member organizations and also as a medium of change for the industrial sector.
